

Turning the Kaleidoscope of Kindness

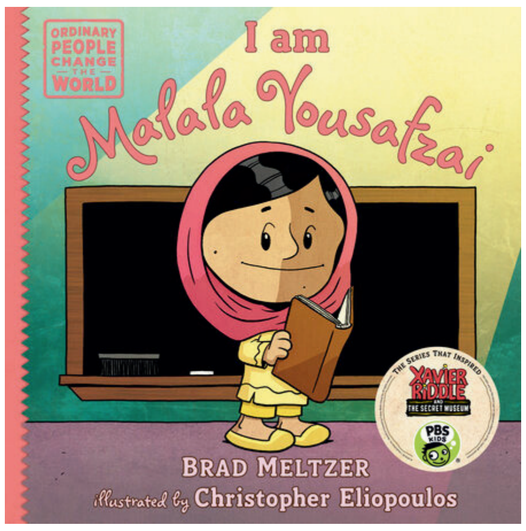

The Voice of Equality

Human Rights

What rights belong to everyone? Explore real examples of unfair treatment, discover why human rights matter, and find ways to speak up for yourself and others.

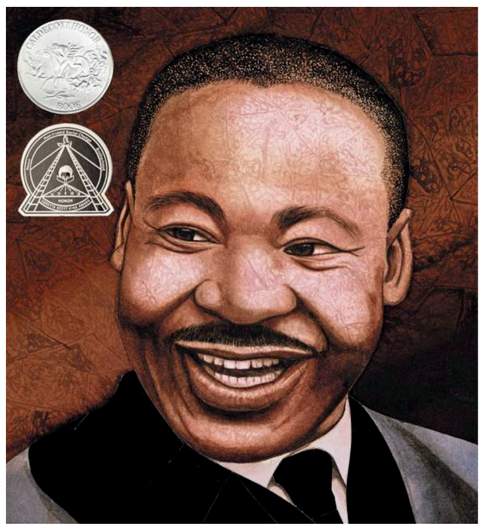

571.9

I am Malala Yousafzai

Malala wants to go to school, but girls around her are denied that chance. Her story shows how one young voice can challenge injustice and defend every child's right to learn.

780-4

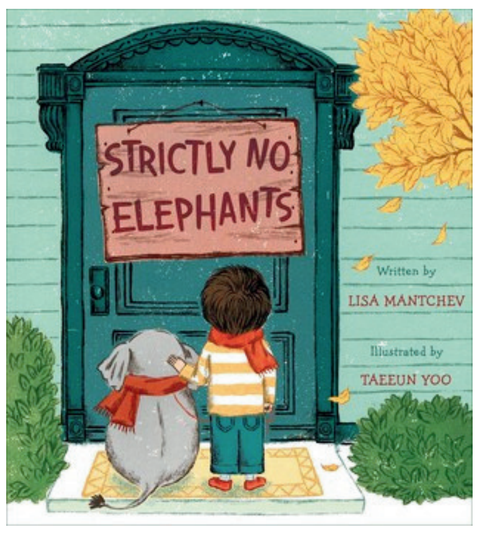

Martin's Big Words

Growing up under segregation, Martin Luther King, Jr. learns the power of words. His life shows how speaking out peacefully can challenge racism and demand equal rights.

785

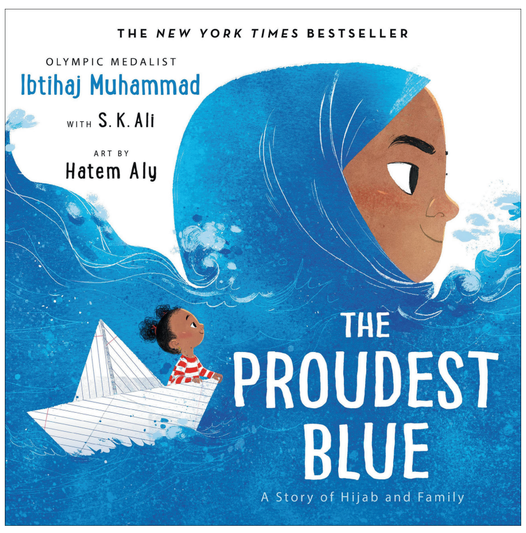

Understanding Each Other

Strictly No Elephants

A boy and his tiny elephant are turned away from a pet club. Together with other excluded friends, they create a welcoming place where everyone can belong.

E S

The Proudest Blue

Faizah is proud of her sister's beautiful blue hijab. When hurtful words follow them to school, the sisters show why understanding someone's faith and identity matters.

E P

El Deafo

Cece starts a new school with a large hearing aid. Her funny, honest story helps readers understand hearing differences, everyday challenges, and the wish to find true friends.

F LAS